

FANCY FOOTWORK

The Torah doesn't have any feet, so when we hold the Torah, we become its feet!

SQUARE CIRCLES

I'm good at square dancing, but on this holiday, it's all circles. We dance around the shul in seven Hakafot (circles) with all the Torah scrolls!

Let's make an...

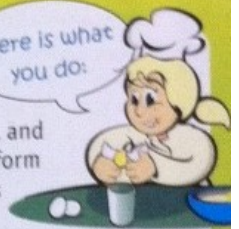

Edible Sukkah

During the Festival of Sukkot, we eat all our meals in a special sukkah (hut) built outdoors. This reminds us of G-d's love and protection when the Jewish people were traveling through the desert, surrounded by the Clouds of Glory. It's fun to help build a real sukkah, but this is a recipe for a sukkah you can build all by yourself... and then enjoy for dessert!

Here is what you do:

- 1 Use the marshmallow fluff to 'glue' 4 wafers together for the back wall, and 2 for each side wall. Then form the front using 3 wafers as shown in the photo.
- 2 Using the pretzels as beams, carefully place them on top of your sukkah structure.
- 3 You are now ready to put on the leafy roof, or schach. Lay the sour belts over the pretzels.
- 4 For the tabletop, leave 4 squares of chocolate attached. For the table legs, use individual squares of chocolate, 'glued' on with marshmallow fluff.
- 5 Cut a green sour belt to make 1 longer and 2 shorter pieces and fashion into a lulav. Put this next to the 'etrog' candy and place on the table in the sukkah.

And there you have it! Your own edible sukkah! Enjoy!

Things you will need:

All ingredients need a reliable kosher symbol on the package

- 10 Chocolate Flavored wafers
- 10 Apple Flavored (green) sour belts
- 10 Long thin pretzels
- Marshmallow fluff
- 1 bar of your favorite non-dairy chocolate
- 1 Etrag shaped candy
